- Working in partnership with young people, parents, carers and other agencies is essential in promoting young people’s welfare.

Members of staff, volunteers and trustees of Winchester Street Reach will:

- Adhere to all relevant safeguarding legislation and child protection policies

Emotional abuse	Emotional abuse is any type of abuse that involves the continual emotional mistreatment of a young person. This is sometimes called psychological abuse. Emotional abuse can involve deliberately trying to scare, humiliate, isolate or ignore a young person.
Neglect	Neglect is the ongoing failure to meet a young person's basic needs and the most common form of abuse of young people. A young person might be left hungry or dirty, or without proper clothing, shelter, supervision or health care. This can put young people in danger, and can also have long term effects on their physical and mental wellbeing.
Bullying and cyber bullying	Bullying is behaviour that hurts someone else. It includes name calling, hitting, pushing, spreading rumours, threatening or undermining someone. Bullying can take place in any location including school, home or online. Online abuse	Online abuse is any type of abuse that happens on the internet. It can happen across any device that's connected to the web, like computers, tablets and mobile phones. Young people can be at risk of online abuse from people they know or from strangers. Online abuse includes cyber bullying, emotional abuse, grooming,

	sexting and sexual abuse and exploitation
Child sexual exploitation	Child sexual exploitation (CSE) is a type of sexual abuse. When a young person is exploited they're given things, like gifts, drugs, money, status and affection, in exchange for performing sexual activities. Young people are often tricked into believing they're in a loving and consensual relationship. This is called grooming. They may trust their abuser and not understand that they're being abused.
Grooming	Grooming is when someone builds a relationship, trust and emotional connection with a young person so they can manipulate, exploit and abuse them. Young people who are groomed can be sexually abused, exploited or trafficked.
Child trafficking	Trafficking is where young people tricked, forced or persuaded to leave their homes and are moved or transported and then exploited, forced to work or sold.
Criminal exploitation and gangs	Criminal exploitation is child abuse where children and young people are manipulated and coerced into committing crimes.
Domestic abuse	Domestic abuse is any type of controlling, bullying, threatening or violent behaviour between people in a relationship. It can seriously harm young people and witnessing domestic abuse is child abuse.
Female Genital Mutilation	Female Genital Mutilation (FGM) is when a female's genitals are deliberately altered or removed for non-medical reasons. It is also known as "female circumcision" or "cutting", but has many other names.
Non-recent abuse	Non-recent child abuse, sometimes called historical abuse, is when an adult was abused as a child or young person under the age of 18.

This training is also recorded in the Register of Training, maintained by the Designated Safeguarding Officer.

4 Managing disclosure

If it is suspected that a young person is suffering from abuse or harm Winchester Street Reach instructs staff and volunteers to listen and take seriously the disclosure and behave accordingly:

- Show you care, help them open up: Give your full attention to the young person and keep your body language open and encouraging. Be compassionate, be understanding and reassure them their feelings are important. Phrases such as 'you've shown such courage today' help.
- Take your time, slow down: Respect pauses and don't interrupt the young person – let them go at their own pace. Recognise and respond to their body language, and remember that it may take several conversations for them to share what's happened to them.
- Show you understand, reflect back: Make it clear you're interested in what the young person is telling you. Reflect back what they've said to check your understanding – and use their language to show it's their experience.
- If a young person tells you they are experiencing abuse, it is important to reassure them that they've done the right thing in telling you. Make sure they know that abuse is never their fault.
- Never talk to the alleged perpetrator about the child's disclosure. This could make things a lot worse for the child.

4.1 Recording details of the disclosure

It is important to keep accurate and detailed notes on any concerns you have about a young person. You will need to share these with your nominated designated safeguarding officer.

Include in the record:

- The young person's details (name, age, address)
- What they said or did that gave you cause for concern.
 - If a verbal disclosure was made, write down their exact words
- Any information that was given to you about the alleged abuser.

Never agree to keep a secret as the Designated Safeguarding Officer must be informed of the disclosure.

The record of the disclosure is confidential information. It must be kept locked away in the office. Where information is recorded digitally then it is to be password protected to restrict access to the smallest number of necessary people as advised by the Designated Safeguarding Officer.

4.2 Reporting of the disclosure

If a young person is suffering or at risk of suffering significant harm, you can share information with appropriate agencies or professionals without the young person or their parent's consent.

If a young person is in immediate danger, call the police on 999.

If a young person is not in immediate danger advise the Designated Safeguarding Officer of the incident.

The Designated Safeguarding Officer will determine what action, if any, is to be taken.

The Designated Safeguarding Officer will consider sharing details with the following:

- Children's Social Care
- The police

5 Suspected abuse by a member of staff or volunteer

Any allegation or concern that a member of staff or volunteer has behaved in a way that has harmed, or may have harmed, a young person shall be taken seriously and dealt with sensitively and promptly, regardless of where the alleged incident took place.

This includes having:

- Behaved in a way that has harmed, or may have harmed a young person
- Possibly committed a criminal offence against, or related to, a young person
- Behaved towards a young person or a group of young people in a way that indicates they may pose a risk of harm to young people
- Behaved in a way that indicates they may not be suitable to work with young people

This is a sensitive issue, however: at all times the protection of the young person must be paramount.

If a colleague suspects another of abuse, it must be reported immediately to the Designated Safeguarding Officer:

- The Designated Safeguarding Officer shall immediately ensure that a written record is made of what has been witnessed/seen and/or has been told as soon as possible.
- It is important that this report is factually accurate.
- This report shall be signed and dated by the originator and the Designated Safeguarding Officer and retained in a safe and secure place.
- The Designated Safeguarding Officer shall decide what action to take in the immediate term, such as immediate suspension of the member of staff or volunteer.

- The Hampshire County Council Local Authority Designated Officer (LADO) shall be contacted asked for advice and this advice shall be followed.

If the LADO, or subsequently the Police, advise it is appropriate to inform the person that an allegation has been made against them, the person should be told this and suspended from further work with young people until advised otherwise by the authorities.

The member of staff or volunteer that the allegation has been made against may be subject to the disciplinary procedure as defined in the disciplinary policy.

The matter will be pursued even if the member of staff or volunteer resigns from Winchester Street Reach.

5.1 Suspected abuse by the Designated Safeguarding Officer

Should the Designated Safeguarding Officer be the subject of an allegation of behaving in a way that has harmed, or may have harmed, a young person, then the above procedure will be addressed by the Chair of Trustees.
